The Life Force Painter

“Light...ColorMovement... in other words, my Universe. Color to touch. Texture to feel.”

Laura Casini, chromatic poetess, as she describes herself, is a sensitive artist who brings in her creations a strong, deep sense of aliveness and life force inviting the soul of the watcher to experience and embody different sort of emotions.

Light, color, movement (the essential elements of the life itself) permeate and animate all her creations.

Structural abstract paintings multidirectional to be seen through all your senses to constantly be surprised by their shadow/light effects and the light changing of the pigment used . Her paintings, like sculptures, are mini universes merging and dancing in you.

« My art is a Soul guided artistic expression of the energy of an emotion (generated by a word, an intimate conversation, a song...) and will generate a deep, inner connection with your subconscious.

Being « alive » due to the iridescent pigments used, my creations will interact with all your senses and will transmit a sense of freedom. A primal sense of life force, a mixture of strength and sensuality.

I love to use a huge amount of painting to create textures and stone effects. Most of my creations must be touched and felt.

“Emotions are the color of the life and Art, after all is a love affair.”

Welcome to my universe

CHROMATIC POETESS

Biography:

In her younger years, Laura lived and studied in Rome, Italy.
Laura actually is living in Geneva, Switzerland.

In early 2016 Laura participated to a week-end painting workshop.
It was the beginning of a new chapter in Laura's life. It was the onset to starting her abstract paintings work.

During this same year Laura started to use acrylic colors and her artistic activation was fully revealed.

She started to paint regularly. By the end of the same year she participated to her first collective exhibition. Her work drew immediately a great attention.

Her work published on Artmajeur.com started immediately to attract the gallerists.

First the gallery Esart Gallery in Barcelona. Where she participated to two consecutive exhibitions and where she has been rewarded twice by an international art critic's jury.

Continuously the Rosso Cinabro gallery in Rome with who she still collaborate.
Then she has been contacted by Wendy Lauwers, the main organizer of events in Monaco with whom Laura began a deep collaboration.

PRAISES

Laura Casini. The energy of passion and the beauty of poetry.

In the study and analysis of the work of the artist Laura Casini I came across a very interesting sensory experience.

Laura's works belong to a particular sphere of contemporary art, the intellectual exercise could range from the abstract and informal experiences of the avant-garde, but what characterizes the common thread of all her creative history is the innate ability that the artist has in bringing into each field of color all herself.

Laura's heart and the material on canvas, interact between them because each work contains a fragment of the sensitive soul of the artist and express at the same time an incredible vital energy.

The love for life, the desire for harmony and beauty, belongs to the way of live and to create of Laura Casini. In order to enjoy at the best the works of the artist it is therefore necessary to let ourselves be contaminated, involved and twisted by the strong emotions that can be felt. Each work is therefore an extension of the soul of the artist, is the result of a deep inner search and the study of a very personal expressive language.

It belongs to Laura's world this creative experimentation that allows her to articulate her path through the search for quality and her disruptive and fascinating passion.

In consideration of all this, it is certainly not surprising to know that the works of Laura Casini are now being increasingly present in major international exhibitions.

With sincere esteem.

The power of silence in the art of Laura Casini

Laura Casini, an artist from Geneva with distant Italian origins is a painter and contemporary exponent of one of the best European informal expressions.

The creative path that began many years ago is animated by a series of authoritative international exhibitions that have characterized her in an area in which the study and experimentation of a personal language today represent her method and style.

Laura Casini entrusts to the depth of her reflections the task of expressing herself through the drafting of matter on the canvas, seeking aesthetic beauty through a wise and conscious chromatic drafting justified by the desire to express concrete concepts through an abstract painting. In the recent Italian exhibition in which she tackled the thorny subject of the "family", the painter tried to interpret it through the search for a constant light of hope for the future without neglecting the wounds and daily difficulties represented by lumps and darkness through which one must necessarily pass also in order to grow spiritually.

The codes of Laura Casini's expressive alphabet feed on everyday concreteness but are expressed through a sincere feeling as an authentic declaration of love for life, which she celebrates in every work and in every brushstroke. "I love to communicate through my deepest emotions" he said recently during the presentation of his new work dedicated to "silence".

The latest in chronological order the painting with the usual delicacy and technical refinement drops us into the world of stillness, peace through an intimate immersion in the world of well-being that rightfully belongs to the beauty of art.

The silence of art reminds us how much more symbolic, deafening and significant silence can be than a thousand words. Precisely in line with the thought of Giacomo Leopardi who at the age of seventeen began drafting the literary masterpiece, the "Zibaldone", a text in which he states that "silence is the language of all strong passions, of love, of anger, of wonder, of awe."

“Je reviens vous donner quelques éléments de ce que je ressens face à votre œuvre.

Tout d'abord vous avez affaire avec l'ombre et la lumière, pas l'une ou l'autre, les deux, toujours prises dans une relation dialectique.

Ténèbres et clartés, vie et mort tout aussi bien, joie et peine...

Vous mettez en présence les grandes forces qui règlent l'univers.

Parfois elles s'aiment et se respectent, parfois elles s'affrontent et se bagarrent.

Ce n'est pas seulement sur la toile que ces amours ou ces combats parfois homériques se produisent, c'est d'abord en vous parce que vous les vivez dans votre corps, dans votre tête et dans vos tripes.

C'est parce que votre peinture est pour vous une absolue nécessité qu'elle a une telle force, une telle puissance, qu'elle exerce une telle aimantation.

J'aimerais la voir pas seulement avec mes yeux au travers d'un écran, mais avec mes mains, la toucher.

Au travers de chacune de vos toiles, il me semble que vous voulez non seulement capter la lumière plus forte que la ténèbre, mais que vous voulez lui donner naissance, presque l'inventer, et sinon la faire gagner pour toujours (vous savez parfaitement ce qu'est l'impermanence) du moins lui faire gagner du terrain chaque jour à chaque instant.

Voilà à peu près ce que je voulais vous dire. Je considère qu'il s'agit d'un cadeau précieux où chaque mot a été pesé, comme le sont chacune de vos touches de peinture. Un immense bravo à vous !”
